1. You've just moved to a new address in the city and want to contact your city council member. Find the contact info for the council member for your ward.
2. You have a friend who asks your opinion of a house he's thinking of buying; he gives you the address and says to look at the picture of the house on the city website.
3. You have a bunch of storm debris (huge branches, mostly) you've collected, and aren't sure what to do with it. Are you allowed to burn it? When, if ever, can you just leave it on the curb with the trash (and would it be picked up on the same day)? Does it matter that the branches fell down in a huge nasty storm?
4. You want to look up the cost of a monthly pass on the city's bus system.
