

Prototype B: Questions

27 Sep 2023

1. The power company came through and mutilated one of your trees; one of the workers said that if you had trimmed it yourself they wouldn't have come. Find out how they want you to trim your tree to avoid this happening again.
2. You just got home late one night to find your power out. Fortunately, your cell phone works, including its web access capability; unfortunately, it's low-bandwidth/text-only. Find out when your power is scheduled to come back on.
3. As a potential investor, you want to compare their estimated earnings with those of its subsidiaries. Get their earnings estimate and a list of all the subsidiary power companies they own.
4. You're thinking of switching to this power company, and you've heard they can read your meter remotely instead of having to send a meter reader to your house. Find out more about this program.
